UT Barbecue - Hurstpierpoint Sunday 28 June 2009

How to get there

Open the two Maps (on Microsoft Photo Editor) accompanying this description and hopefully you will be guided to Cynthia Parrot's Cottage at: New Way Lane, Hurstpierpoint, Sussex BN6 9BD.

Once on the A23 (if traveling from London to Brighton) take a left turn off the A23 on to the B2116 (Hurstpierpoint is clearly signposted).

Drive right through the town past the Church (which will be on your right) and beyond until you come to a fork in the road, when you should bear to the right down 'New Way Lane' (not marked on Map2) which is a fairly narrow and winding country road, and keep going – it seems quite a long way - until you get to Cynthia's Dapps which will be on your left. (shown on Map2 as a "B")

Some hints: Leaving say Richmond around 9.30 by car one should reach destination around 11.30.

Take your own picnic gear including soft drinks & wine. Also take blankets and if available Camping chairs and a camping table as well as garden toys for the juniors.

As the weather always plays a great part, allow for a wet day. Walking shoes are advisable should you wish to climb the pleasant hill above Ditchling.

The risotto etc. will be served around 1 pm.

After the risotto, those wanting a walk to Ditchling or up the hill, should return by about 15.30 when tea and cakes will be served.

After 'tea' a raffle will take place at around 16.30.

Obviously we will take things in a relaxing way as they happen.

Wishing all participants a good time.
